THE ROPE WALKER AT MIAGARA. Mr. Willis, in the Home Journal, thus Gescribes Mr. Bladin's passage over the Ningara river in the character of an Indian Washington street, and at present occupied by

"After being dressed in his flesh-colored tights, wampum apron' bend necklace, and processins, he came out (with his particularly uncombed sandy hair uncovered as yet by its crown of feathers) to look a little into the arrangements for his performance. For of St Asaph and Gibbon streets, fronting on Gibnfteen or twenty minutes the little Tecum- bon 19 feet 4 inches, and running northwardly 90 seh was hopping about, trying the cords feet. Title retained questions of the lookers-on. In his motions, back and forward, he took no regular step; expense of the purchasers. as simply bounded. Like a child's soap bubble, the difficulty seemed to be to get to the ground-to keep from floating away. Daring all this time, of course, I had the desired opportunity for the study of his face. It was one which 19 persons out of 20, on seeing it in a crowd, would pass over TIVE, called the FAIRFAX, levied on to satisfy as wholy uninteresting-the twentieth and tax bills in my hands, due the City Council of more observant mas giving him a good look; as one of the most coolly determined and honestly spunky little fellows he had ever seen. The top of his skull, of course, is very high with his bump of firmness. His cheek bones are prominent, his nose straight and with thin expanded nostrils, his lips thin and firm, his cheeks hollow and pale, and he wears a sandy moustache and imperial-a la Louis Napoleon. Though any thing but a beauty, he is a man it is impos- the prospective, as well as present relation of the posite the Gazette Office. sible not to take a fancy to. Retiring to his parties to the subject, it has been determined to shanty for a minute or two, after all was arranged, his reappearance was announced forward came Tecumsel, with a high crown of many colored feathers. of many calored feathers on his head-not with a slow pace, as would be expected from an Indian chief, but dancing a jig all the way to the precipice. It was curious, however, to see that the smile on his lip, and FARMING IMPLEMENTS. his other signs of merriment for the many, were altogether mechanical and artificial, while the closely-pressed eyelid, through which his keen blue eye was hardly visible. showed the inner mind's utter absorption PLOWS AND CASTINGS. and concentration in the work he had to do. The rope was drawn from shore to shore, Ox Yokes, Cutting Boxes, Corn Shellers, eight hundred feet across, and two hundred and fifty feet high over the Niagara rapids -a perilous bridge for human feet to walk! I took held of his arm as he stood trying the rope for a moment with the ball of his foot. It was like a bunch of iron wire, wholly found in a first-class Agricultural Store, which we unimpressible. And away he went-his deem unnecessary to enumerate. moccasined feet bugging the two sides of the swaving cable, his balance-pole playing up and down, and his little figure gradually diminishing as he walked steadily on and reached the middle of the chasm, where he proceeded to stand upon one leg and hold the other out at right angles. He came quietly on to the centre, where he stopped to he down at full length on the rope, and execute various postures and gymnastics; and, between this and his reaching our shore again, he made several pretended trips, as if lesing his balance—the screams of the affrighted ladies, at this, very comically varying the tune which was being endeavored by the band. As he came up the slant of the rope again, I saw that his lips were tightly drawn | WINES. together and his features were rigidly set with the mental exertion, and it was an expression of face that would be worth painting as a type of determined will. Through ail the anxiety of a spectator's suspense, I could not help admiring the little man ex- GRIMES, and under the firm name of E.
